INTERNAL NR-ELIGIBILITY REVIEW FORM

Property/District Name: Victor Meyers Property Survey Number: HO-226

Project: Proposed Southeast Middle and Elementary School Agency: S/PSCP

Site visit by MHT Staff: no yes Name Bowlin/Miller Date 1 August 95

Eligibility recommended Eligibility not recommended

Criteria: A B C D Considerations: A B C D E F G None

Justification for decision: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map)

The Victor Meyers property consists of a main dwelling, garage, hen house, only the dwelling is over fifty years old. Although the original section of the building may have been built in the mid-nineteenth century, as the existing MD Inventory form indicates, the current architecture reflects early twentieth century design, materials, and method of construction. The Colonial Revival features such as the columned portico, front entrance detailing, slate roof, and one-story wings typify this architectural style. A popular style in the early twentieth century, numerous examples of Colonial Revival exist in the state. More detailed examples exist within the general vicinity of the Meyers property: Overlook Farm (HO-236) and Linden Manor on Gorman Road, just west of I-95. The Trust was not permitted access to the interior of the dwelling. Based on existing information, I believe that the Victor Meyers property is not eligible for the Maryland Register.

Documentation on the property/district is presented in: compliance file "Southeast Middle" survey vertical files "A History of the Murray Hill Rd and Gorman Rd Area of Howard Co."

THE VICTOR MEYERS HOUSE
Private Laurel

nineteenth and twentieth centuries

The Victor Meyers House faces east on the west side of Gorman Road which leads from Route 29 to Savage. It is located on a tract of land called "Mary's Choice" or "Warfield's Choice."

It is a five bay wide, one room deep, two story high, gabled roof (running north-south) frame structure. A two bay wide, one room deep, one story high, gabled roof (running north-south) frame addition rests on each side of the main structure, while the original old two story high frame farm house whose gabled roof (running east-west) extends westward from the main building's west wall, creating a "T" plan.

Historically the Blew family of Howard County made their home here in the 1850's. It was used in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries as a summer home and/or tenant farm by wealthy Washington and Baltimore families. In 1944 it was purchased by the High brothers, who initiated the High's Dairies stores, beginning in Washington. Since 1948 it has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Meyers.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Victor Meyers House is located on some eighty acres of land facing east on the west side of Gorman Road 3/4 of a mile south from its intersection with Murray Hill Road. It is a five bay wide, one room deep, two story high, gabled roof (running north-south) German siding frame house with wide exterior brick chimneys on its north and south walls and a two story high, flat roofed portico running along its entire east elevation, supported by six tall wooden doric columns, with flat pilasters at each side, adorned by a wooden cornice decorated with a row of dentils.

The central rectangular, open bible and cross paneled entrance door is flanked by flat pilasters and surmounted by a five light transom and flat wooden lintel and cornice. The crown molding of the cornice rises in a steep curve of reverse form, and terminates on each side. The central break extends to a pedestal upon which is placed a pineapple, symbol of hospitality.

Fenestration is proportionally scaled and vertically aligned. All the windows are double-hung, rectangular, holding six-over-six lights, decorated with flat wooden lintels and black shutters.

One story high, two bay wide, one room deep, gabled roof (running north-south) frame extensions on each side of the north and south walls of the house create a very graceful effect. A two bay wide, two bay deep, intersecting gabled roof (running east-west) frame west wing (believed to be the original farm house) creates a "T" plan. A one story high, gabled roof (running east-west) hyphen connects this latter section with a taller one story high, gabled roof (running east-west) frame building which acts as the base of the "T".

A one story high, gabled roof (running north-south) brick (laid in English garden wall brick bond) structure extends north on the east side of the latter section's north wall.

The building is surrounded by mature trees and lovely gardens. A one story high, shed roofed addition runs along almost the entire west wall of the one story high north extension. A one story high, flat roofed, screened in porch takes in the northwest corner of the "T".

Eleven graduated steps on a curvilinear path lead up to three brick steps which lead to the front porch and entrance.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Victor Meyers house is significant historically and architecturally to Howard County and the State of Maryland.

Historically, the 78 and 3/4 to 80 acre tract of land can be traced back to a family by the name of Blew who lived here in the early 1850's. Ruth Blew conveyed this tract of land known as "Mary's Choice" or "Warfield's Choice" to Joel Blew on August 4, 1857 (Howard County Land Records, liber: 18, folio: 340). By 1868 it had been acquired by Joshua Blew of Howard County who sold the farm to Alonzo Johnson of Washington, D.C. on the 27th of February of that year for $3,000. Improvements were noted on the property. What these consisted of is not certain but it is believed that the oldest section of the house, behind the present imposing facade, may date from this period when the Blew family made their home here.

It passed through several ownerships from Sept. 15, 1881 to March 15, 1944 when Luther W. and Polk C. High, brothers bought the farm as a country estate and made the innovations and additions which we see today.

In an examination of these previous owners we see that many of them lived in Washington, D. C. or Baltimore City and used this as a summer home and/or tenant farm. The Johnson family lived in Washington, D.C. and owned the farm from February 27, 1868 to September 15, 1881. The Hopkin's Atlas of 1878 notes it as the residence of Samuel A. Willard, who probably leased the farm from the Johnson family. Hanna Gaither of Baltimore City acquired the farm at public auction for $1100 on December 28, 1885. Elijah and Mary B. Bond of Baltimore City owned the farm very briefly from August 30, 1886 to September 21, 1886 (51-84 and 51-214, Howard County Land Records) when it was sold to William Groscup et al. From 1881 to 1944 some nineteen property transactions are noted in the Howard County Land Records, many owners being residents of Baltimore City as were the Bond family. Levi Condon of Baltimore County, Andrew Mettee, bachelor of Baltimore City, Alphonsos Bieler of Baltimore City and Melvin E. Phelps of Baltimore City to name a few. This tends to corroborate the belief that this property and the old section of the house was used as a summer retreat and/or tenant farm in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. In 1944, when acquired by the High brothers, major renovations to the building took place. Mrs. Stanton, an officer of the Citizen's National Bank in Laurel remembers visiting the farm at that time with her grandmother. The tall portico with its huge doric columns was well remembered.

CONTINUE ON SEPARATE SHEET IF NECESSARY

HO-226
Dist. 6

On May 6, 1948 the property was purchased and conveyed to Louise Marlow Myers who resides here with her husband Victor. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers have maintained the house and its magnificent setting with the utmost care and attention. This care and attention enhances the value of the Victor Meyers house which is significant architecturally as well as historically.

The tall graceful two story high portico is the most imposing stylistic detail of an otherwise relatively simply, straight forward architectural complex.

The north and south one story high additions placed on each side of the main body of the house as well as its situation on a high ridge line add to the creation of a rather dominating and significant land mark.
